

Please read enclosed manual carefully before use

Disclaimer

Deep Blue AG shall assume no responsibility whatsoever for any damage of any sort resulting directly or indirectly from any form of use of the BlueFox Safety System in general and of the BlueFox Wrist Computer and the Receiving Sensor in particular that was not in strict conformity with the instruction book or further guidelines of Deep Blue Marine or which was directly or indirectly the result of a violation of basic safety rules.

Warranty

Deep Blue AG issues a product warranty to the laws and regulations of your country, but at the least a period of two years, starting from the sales date of the BlueFox Safety System to the end consumer.

The warranty liability is exclusively for defects which result from material- or production failure.

To assertion the warranty claim the original sales document with the sales date has to be included. Warranty repairs may exclusively be carried out by an authorized Deep Blue Marine service center.

Excluded from the warranty are:

- Damages through improper utilization
- Damages through violence, damage through external man induce event or through foreign object
- Damages through non-observance of the manual
- Fair Wear and tear

Also excluded from the warranty are partially or complete disassembled devices.